

Linda Morin

Artist at heart since childhood, I left my career as a language teacher in 1987 to devote my time to my passion, art.

Throughout the years, having experimented many different artistic avenues, I've been, above all, seduced by painting. This experience opened the doors to my inner world and unleashed my creativity and pushed it towards new horizons, until then, unknown to me. I discovered the wonders of acrylic and evolved rapidly towards spontaneous movements filled with vitality and color.

For me, painting is synonymous with transformation. I constantly explore new paths with color, texture and composition. I prefer large size canvases for they allow greater freedom of movement.

Painting became my way of expressing the feelings that emerge with the coming of each season: the beauty of nature's rebirth in spring, the calmness and warmth of summer and the hypnotic range of color in autumn landscapes. My passion allows me to capture and immortalize all these wonderful changes.

Linda Morin was born in Montréal.
